July 8-11, 2009

Dear Colleague,

On behalf of the Officers and the Council of the International Academy of Oral Oncology, we are delighted to invite you to beautiful Toronto, July 8-11, 2009 for the 2nd World Congress of our Academy.

During the course of the past 3 years, the Academy has made significant strides with growing membership, drawing specialists from all parts of the world interested in the field of oral cancer. The First World Congress in May 2007 in Amsterdam was a great success and we intend to make the Second Congress an even greater scientific event.

For this endeavor our Program Chairman Professor Patrick Gullane, assisted by an outstanding scientific program committee are constructing a comprehensive scientific program. This program is expected to be educational, informative, and interesting. The scientific sessions will consist of keynote addresses by world experts, panel discussions, debates on controversial issues and proffered papers selected from submitted abstracts. Several national and international supportive organizations will deliver sponsored symposia in various aspects of oral / head and neck surgery and oncology. Recognizing the important role that supportive care has to offer to the oral cancer patient, a half-day seminar will be devoted to this subject at the end of the Congress. A rich and interesting social program will supplement an outstanding scientific program, making this an event you will not want to miss.

The city of Toronto, the largest city in Canada, is renowned for its hospitality and safety. Toronto is the multicultural capital of Canada with a wide array of entertainment and dining opportunities. Nature surrounds and is integrated into the design of the city with visitors able to walk in the cities beautiful parks, enjoy a visit to the islands or partake in a vast array of outdoor sporting activities.

We look forward to seeing you in Toronto in July 2009.

Sincerely yours,

Jatin P. Shah

THE ORGANIZERS

The International Academy of Oral Oncology [IAOO] was established in 2005, and draws together clinicians and scientists worldwide, working on issues relating to the etiopathogenesis, epidemiology, prevention and management of oral and perioral tumors and of oral disease in patients with malignancies.

The IAOO consists of a wide range of clinicians and scientists worldwide, leaders in their fields, who have united to establish the Academy.

Fellowship of the Academy is open to all with an interest in the field, subject to certain conditions detailed in the constitution.

LOCATION

The Congress will take place at the Sheraton Centre Toronto Hotel in Toronto, Canada.

Toronto is Canada's largest city with a history extending back to the Native American Indians. Situated on the northern shore of Lake Ontario, it is a bright, bold, cosmopolitan city that's also friendly, clean, green and safe.

Downtown Toronto features renowned sports venues, top attractions – including the CN tower: the tallest free standing structure – fabulous shopping, luxurious hotel rooms, the beautiful waterfront and more, all just a short stroll from each other.

Toronto is easily accessible by air, car and rail. For delegates arriving by air, the Toronto Airport Express bus service runs to and from all three terminals at the Lester B. Pearson Airport to a number in hotels in the downtown area of Toronto including the Sheraton Centre. The service runs every 20/30 minutes and the approximate travel time is 1-1.5 hours pending traffic and weather.

Further details of the accommodation on offer to delegates will be detailed in the second announcement.
